REMEMBER:

Quantity adjectives help us say exactly how much or how many. They make our writing stronger and easier to understand!

DEMONSTRATIVE ADJECTIVES

They help us be clear by pointing out
specific people,
places or things!

Demonstrative adjectives come before a noun to show which one we are talking about.

THE DEMONSTRATIVE ADJECTIVES

THIS

A close-up photograph showing a person's hand with the index finger pointing towards a single, ripe red apple. The apple is resting on a dark, textured wooden surface. The lighting is soft, highlighting the smooth skin of the apple and the grain of the wood.

This is my apple.

THAT

A hand in the foreground points towards a red barn with a grey roof, situated in a green field. In the background, there are blue mountains under a clear sky.

That is my house.

THESE

A small, light-colored woven basket filled with various colored pens and pencils, including blue, yellow, orange, green, and purple. The basket is sitting on a light-colored surface, and a small potted plant is visible in the background.

These are my markers.

THOSE

Those are the trees.
